Apple antes del Macintosh

RETRO PARLA

El Altair 8800 es considerado por muchos como el primer ordenador personal de la historia. Vendido por correo en forma de kit por la empresa MITS, llegaron a enviarse más de 2000 unidades el primer mes de lanzamiento en 1974.

En esta recreación se ha utilizado una placa Arduino Due para emular el funcionamiento del Altair, usando el firmware desarrollado por David Hansel en su página web:
